PROMINENT WAREHOUSEMAN DIED AT HIS HOME HERE

Mr. L. T. Gaebke, Tobacco Dealer and Warehouseman, Died at His Home in East Second Street Late Tuesday Afternoon.

Mr. L. T. Gaebke, president of the Growers Warehouse Company, and one of the best known tobacco dealers in Northeastern Kentucky, died at his home at East Second and Poplar streets Tuesday evening at about 5 o'clock after several months' illness. Although he had been in ill health for the past year, Mr. Gaebke had been confined to his bed since about June.

Mr. Gaebke was born at Mayslick, this county, on March 31, 1861 and was therefore sixty years of age. Early in life his family moved to Mt. Carmel, Fleming county, where he spent the greater part of his life and with his mother engaged in the merchandise business. It was here that he first engaged in the tobacco business.

In the year 1904 Mr. Gaebke moved to Maysville and engaged in the coal and tobacco business. He was quite successful and in 1912 he with a number of friends and associates, organized the Growers Tobacco Warehouse Company of which he has since been the president. He was a shrewd business man, a fine judge of tobacco and a warm friend of the growers of tobacco throughout this district.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Breslin and Miss Marie Gaebke, and one son, Ludwig C. Gaebke, as well as one sister, Mrs. Adolph Weber, of Los Angeles, Calif. He was an active member of the Maysville Council Knights of Columbus.

Funeral will be held from St. Patrick's church, of which he was a very devout and consistent member, on Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Burial will be made at Mt. Carmel.

FLEMING COUNTIAN ELECTED PRESIDENT VETERANS ASSOC'N.

At the thirty-third annual reunion of the survivors of the Tenth Kentucky Cavalry and the Sixteenth Kentucky Infantry, Civil War Veterans, held at Beechwood Park Wednesday, Mr. R. F. Hudson, of Flemingsburg, who has been a Vice President of the organization for several years, was elevated to the Presidency, being unanimously chosen to succeed President Harover, of Manchester, Ohio, who died during the year. Other officers elected were: M. C. Chisholm and A. L. Scudder, Vice Presidents, and Mrs. George W. Hook, of Peebles, Ohio, the real active head of the organization, was unanimously re-elected Secretary and Treasurer.

The old veterans, although their ranks are thinned considerably, and despite the fact that rain interfered, seemed to enjoy themselves immensely during the day. At noon a fine luncheon was spread and they were serenaded by a number of the members of the Maysville Boys' Band.

The chief address of the day was made by Rev. J. J. Dickey and at the call of the roll, each veteran present, responded with a short talk. These talks were greatly enjoyed by the visitors, many of whom were in attendance. There were 27 veterans of the two regiments registered at noon.

DELAY IN PEACE IS BEING FORECAST

Report Current That Lloyd George May Fight For Time and Force Crisis on Irish Proposition.

London, Sept. 21. — Premier David Lloyd George may postpone the Irish issue and go to the country in a general election, the Daily Mail predicted today.

Belief that the British prime minister feels his position with regard to Ireland to be the strongest possible has given rise to suspicion that Lloyd George contemplates precipitating a political crisis in England.

The British Cabinet was gathered at Gairloch today for a discussion of the Irish question and unemployment.

Feeling that Eamonn De Valera in his late note definitely has accepted the invitation to a peace conference on Britain's terms continued to grow here. Reports from Dublin were that the Sinn Fein president was willing to make that point even more clear if necessary.

Interest in the Irish situation, which was at fever heat two days ago, has lulled. The popular feeling is that the controversy has degenerated into a mere babbling of words.

TESTIMONY NEARS END IN CELEBRATED CONTEST OF WILL

Evidence Will Probably All Be Before Jury By Thursday—Arguments Will Likely Attract Large Audience.

Many persons testified in Circuit Court Wednesday in defense of the probated will of the late Andrew C. Sphar. Neighbors and friends testified that they were of the opinion that at the time of making the will, Mr. Sphar was in possession of his mental faculties.

Street car conductors, postmen and associates added their testimony to the long list of those who answered "yes" to the general question propounded by attorneys as to Mr. Sphar having knowledge of his estate, the objects of his bounty, his duties to them and his ability to dispose of his estate according to a fixed purpose of his own.

At the rate witnesses were introduced today, it is thought that rebuttal will begin Thursday and all evidence will probably be in at adjournment.

FIANCE JAILED FOLLOWING MURDER OF A RICH FARMER

Woman Rich Farmer Was To Have Married, With Three Others Arrested After Mysterious Death.

London, Ky., Sept. 21. — Following the mysterious murder of James McClure, 55 years old, bachelor, found clubbed to death in his bed on his farm in this county, four persons, including his supposed fiancée and a rival, have been arrested.

McClure, a prosperous farmer who lived alone, was killed at night by blows of a heavy hammer, which crushed his skull. He evidently had been murdered while he lay asleep, as there were no signs of a struggle.

After an investigation officials arrested the following: Janie Sasser, 30 years old, said to be his fiancée.

Harve Reynolds, 50 years old, a crippled self-styled "doctor," infatuated with the Sasser woman, who had refused to marry him.

MILLSTONES—UPPER AND NETHER.

"A plague on both your houses!" was the dying protest of the innocent bystander who perished in the quarrel between Mantague and Capulet; and that is the sentiment of the citizen who has suffered in the fanatical war between wets and dries.

First, we had the saloon, which at times and places, and as long as it remained a saloon, was a pleasant and in some respects a useful institution; but when it became a political headquarters, assignation house and gambling den, could no longer be tolerated. Citizens of this city who have not reached middle age can recall how the saloons and their backers, through political lobby and the courts, opposed every measure of reform. In succession they fought Sunday closing, midnight closing, elimination of slot machines and of "ladies' sitting rooms."

And so, with a thoroughness characteristic of the American people, they were wiped out, and with a thoughtlessness equally characteristic, the pendulum swings to the other extreme, and we legislated in the millennium of prohibition! And in its wake the attendant evils that belong to it and should have been anticipated. An enormous salary roll supporting an army of office holders. Law enforcement officers who see frequent violations of law subject them to constant rebuke from the judges. Bootleggers operating openly and making fortunes by the sale of poisonous intoxicants. A Senate and Congress the majority of whom do not believe in or practice teetotalism, cringing silently before a gallery of paid lobbyists. But worst of all, we have seen and are suffering under a condition that Mr. Root prophesied; we have a law that is incapable of enforcement, the continuous and flagrant violation of which has resulted in a disrespect for all law.

Where is the Moses who shall lead us out of this wilderness, brace the backbones of our legislative representatives, and provide a decent system that will relieve us from the tyranny of the fanatic, as we have relieved ourselves from the tyranny of the saloon?—Commercial-Tribune.

NO FIG LEAVES, NOR LAWYERS, THERE.

A woman in Zion City, Ill., has been fined for wearing a waist that was cut too low. It failed to cover her collar bone, lacking, according to the law of the new Zion, something like six inches.

"The time has come," said the able attorney who prosecuted the woman, "when we need more fig leaves." Far be it from this way-faring pilgrim to offer suggestions to the elders of Zion in their efforts to build up a heavenly retreat on earth, and near Chicago at that. But one grounded in the doctrines of the prophets and the apostles cannot close his eyes to the fact that the city attorney of Zion is handing out some bum opinions of the laws of Zion as laid down by the old law-makers.

Fig leaves! Why fig leaves were the fashion in the garden of Eden and not in Zion. And even fig leaves, once adopted as a summer style, didn't fill the bill, giving place as everybody knows, to fur-lined coats in the first "fall" season of our forefathers.

Fig leaves in Zion! Well, the garments of Zion, if the city attorney—

"Ah, dismiss the case! Where did any one get the notion that there would be a city attorney in Zion?"—Kansas City Times.

BATTING AND
FIELDING RECORD OF PLAYERS

Figures Given Herewith Show Batting and Fielding Records of Maysville Players.

For the benefit of the fans the Public Ledger publishes the batting and field averages of the Maysville ball team as kept in the last five games starting with the game with Ripley, and including the game last Sunday with Wiedemanns. If the averages for the entire season had been kept there no doubt would be a great change but prior to the Ripley game there was hardly a team engaged by the locals that could be considered in semi-pro class and the average shown by us may be taken as a fair example of what the team will do against any first class club. With an average of .293 in hitting they are setting a pace that would hardly be equalled by any semi-pro team around Cincinnati and their fielding average of .903 can only be considered of medium class. Welmer leads the team in hitting with .500 having played in four of the five games but Slayback shows up to be the real slugger, with 7 hits for a total of 13 bases and an average of .333. Monk, Huffman and Dresel are holding up their end well.

In the field Boskins has a perfect record with only 12 chances accepted but Slayback in 37 chances has but 2 errors an average of .946.

Welmer is the only one who shows any speed on the bases with 4 sacks to his credit, Slayback follows with 2 steals.

Following are the averages for the last five games:

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, — It is a matter of surprise among those associated with the preparations for the forthcoming international conference that it should be referred to so frequently as a conference on "disarmament." Certainly no statement that has been given out by any government official with regard to themeeting has used the word "disarmament," and the invitations extended to the powers to participate contain no such language.

Its widespread adoption by some editors can only be attributable to a misconception of the purpose of the conference or to gross carelessness in the use of words.

On July 10th the State Department issued a statement to the effect that "The President in view of the far reaching importance of the question of limitation of armaments" had asked the powers if it would be agreeable to them to participate in a conference on the subject. "It is manifest," continued the statement, "that the question of LIMITATION OF ARMAMENTS has a close relation to Pacific and Far Eastern problems," and it was suggested that those subjects be also considered at the meeting.

Favorable replies to the informal invitation were received, whereupon Secretary Hughes despatched formal messages to the five powers asking them to attend a meeting on Armistice Day.

Those messages began as follows: "The President is deeply gratified at the cordial response to his suggestion that there should be a conference on the subject of LIMITATION OF ARMAMENTS," etc.

"In pursuance of the proposal which has been made," concluded the invitation, "and in the light of the gracious indication of its acceptance, the President invited the government of _____ to participate in a conference on the subject of the LIMITATION OF ARMAMENTS in connection with which Pacific and Far Eastern questions will also be discussed, to be held in Washington on the 11th day of November, 1921."

There is no hint of "disarmament" in any of the negotiations that have led up to the conference, but so prevalent has become the use of the term that Secretary Hughes, in a recent interview with Washington newspaper correspondents, thought it necessary to remind them that the meeting was officially known as a "conference on the subject of the limitation of armament," and that the use of the term "disarmament" conveyed a wholly false impression of the objects which the conference would seek to attain.

There is a suspicion in certain Washington circles that the Democrats are quietly spreading the impression that the meeting is a disarmament conference, and trying to make people believe that the objects sought by President Harding are far more ambitious than is really the truth. They think that if the people can be led to believe that the conference has been called to bring about disarmament, and it adjourns without accomplishing that result, they will be in a position to refer to the meeting as a Republican failure. That suspicion is strengthened by a recent speech of Mr. McAdoo in which he referred to a navyless world, and sought to convey the impression that the armaments conference might bring about that very state of affairs.

It behooves Republicans to be careful in choice of words in speaking of the meeting. They furnish ammunition for their political enemies by referring to the party as a "disarmament" conference. They will be strictly correct, hold out no false hopes to the people, and deprive the Democrats of campaign material for use next fall by designating the meeting only as a "conference on the subject of LIMITATION OF ARMAMENTS."

That soybeans and corn grown together and hogged off are a profitable means of pork production is shown by the results obtained by Tom Wheatley, a Washington county farmer who cooperated with County Agent R. M. Heath and the extension division of the College of Agriculture in showing the value of this method. Nine hogs which were turned into a field of soybeans and corn each made an average gain of 41 pounds during the 15 days that they were on feed making a total of 370 pounds of pork produced by this method, according to a report of the project. The animals weighed a total of 1,460 pounds when the demonstration started and 1,830 pounds when it was finished.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — This is almost a case of being hoist by her own petard. Summer colonists on the east end of Long Island have serious trouble with the matter of keeping servants. One woman whose cottage is in Bridgehampton had a new cook each week before she finally got one who seemed content. To be assured that this contentment would last, the mistress turned her car over to the newcomer every Thursday afternoon, instructing the chauffeur to take her wherever she wished to go. Bridget saw the surrounding country and like it. One day without warning she disappeared. The only clue was contained in this note, which was found pinned to her dresser cover: "I'd sooner Southampton than Bridge."

—NY—

Ellis Island has seen more tragedies probably, than any other spot in this country; but there is something unusually poignant, even for that place, in the turning back to Europe of Lorence Hauman. His parents and brothers landed last month, but he had been left behind with relatives because of illness, with the understanding that he would join them here as soon as possible. He came, and his parents and brothers eagerly made the trip to Ellis Island to meet him. The quota of immigrants from his country for September had been reached, however, before his ship arrived, and he was not allowed to land, but was ordered deported on the next steamer. Not even could his family go aboard to see him and to say goodbye. That, too, would have been against the law.

—NY—

Requests to organizations and institutions are not often entirely unexpected. When one does come that way, there is something particularly gratifying about it. It presupposes a great amount of unknown appreciation located somewhere in the world. The National Board of the Y. W. C. A. has just received word of a rather remarkable expression of such good will. Miss Mary Cunningham, sixty years of age, died recently in Elgin, Ill., where she had worked for many, many years in a watch factory. She was, in fact its oldest employee. She had always lived at the factory dormitory and spent very little money aside from bare living expenses. When her will was read, it was found that she had saved $6,000 during these years, and with the exception of a bequest to her church, had left it all to the Y. W. C. A. She had no family ties and these were the things which were dearest to her, although the members of the organization itself had not realized the place the Y. W. held in her heart. Years ago, it seems she became interested in the work of the association, but had seldom visited it in recent years, and few knew of her intense interest in its work. "It was because of what they did for the girls in the factory," explained one of those who knew her best. "She knew the value of that work as people outside can't."

A novel and interesting sight-seeing trip was taken over in Newark the other day when detectives took young Leonard Hoffman, 19 years old, on a tour of the city while he pointed out to them the various places he had robbed. There were fifteen garages, private houses, grocery stores, and other incidental buildings on the list. Young Hoffman had been undisturbed in his career until two detectives saw him wandering about and thought he acted suspicious. They asked him what he did for a living. "I'm a burglar," the boy said calmly. "I live at home with my mother and father but I never work." "How much of a burglar are you?" they inquired. "Well," he replied proudly, "I've robbed at least somewhere in the world. The National months ago. I'm a sharpshooter with a revolver, too. I shot a guy about three months ago."

"Launcelot and Elaine," a romantic drama in which the poetry and the language of Tennyson's "Idylls of the King" have been closely followed, has just opened at the Greenwich Village Theater. It is produced by the new Playwright and Players Company and is quite gorgeously put on. Gerald Rogers, Pedro de Cordoba, and Selena and Josephine Royle have the leading parts. The two latter are daughter of Edward Milton Royle, whose dramatization it is. There is lovely incidental music throughout which carried the Tennysonian spirit to perfection.

New York City apartments — especially the compact ones — to put it mildly — have had considerable blame thrown upon them for unhealthfulness, doing away with home life, and a lot of other evils of the day; but here is one point on which they can be checked up on the side of righteousness. That is as regards our eighteenth amendment. Vacationers from various quiet rural parts of the country are coming back to the city these days, sighing for the simple life of the metropolis. "Everybody where I was this summer," they say, "was making home brew of one kind or another all the time. Now we've come back to New York to get our digestions in order again and settle down to peace and quiet. You see they all have home or summer cottages there and can do as they please. If we tried any brewing in our apartment, everybody would smell it the first ten minutes including the janitor and the superintendent and we'd probably be thrown out. No, the small towns are the place for now."

Lucy Jeanne Price. New York has lost its Gretchen Green, Connecticut has called to account our nearest Connecticut neighbor, the sympathetic town of Greenwich. Always were its justices willing to waive the five-day clause in the law and marry romantic couples then and there upon application, whatever the hour or explanation. Rarely was a motion picture actress in this part of the country that she didn't motor out to Greenwich and get married, and our native sons and daughters patronized it with equal appreciation. But those days are past. Connecticut insists upon due process of law taking precedence over romance, and Greenwich has received instruction to that effect.

The welcome back to the boards of John Drew and Mrs. Leslie Carter almost overshadowed the play itself at the opening performance of the cleverly satirical comedy, "The Circle." It was one of THE nights of the whole season because of their presence. But aside from that, the play is much worth seeing. Estelle Winwood is as enticing as ever and Ernest Lawford is excellent in the parts of the younger couple who refused to profit by the example and preachments of their elders who found the primrose path a thorny one.

HOAX DISCOVERED, POET, IS COMMITTED SUICIDE.

New York. — Thomas Chatterton, creator of the "Rowley poems," was the world's most unfortunate poet, says the September Mentor Magazine. At eighteen he committed suicide in a London garret, defeated in his attempt to earn a living by writing.

Shortly before coming to London, Chatterton produced poems which he credited to a medieval poet-priest, Rowley. Critics argued for eighty years as to whether or not they were genuine.

According to a prominent London photographer, American women have the most beautiful eyes in the world.

IRELAND MUST BE FREE SAYS REPUBLICAN SOLON

Hogan, of New York, Declares She Deserves It As Reward for Her Heroic Fighting in World War.

Washington. — That Ireland should be given liberty as a reward for her sacrifices in the World War is the contention of Representative Michael J. Hogan of New York, who is the first to voice Republican sentiment in the House on the subject. He says:

"Ireland has played a conspicuous part in the development of that English-speaking civilization which has accomplished so much for liberty and right. Wellington and Kitchener, the soldiers who did most to save England in her two periods of greatest stress, were born in the Emerald Isle. Edmund Burke, Oliver Goldsmith, Richard Brinsley Sheridan, and George Bernard Shaw have long helped to inspire the intelligence of the entire British Empire, and they, too, first saw the light on that spot. For England to say, with a prejudice which is unworthy of our age, that she is Protestant and Ireland Catholic and that Ireland gains her freedom she will menace Protestantism is beside the mark. Nearly every one of the most revered martyrs and leaders of Irish liberty during the past century was a Protestant. Neither Wolf Tone, Robert Emmett, John Philip Curran, Henry Grattan, Edward Fitzgerald, or Charles Stuart Parnell were within the Catholic faith."

"Ireland is prepared to go on with her work for the betterment of mankind, but her people feel that in order to do so she must have that same priceless heritage of liberty which her sons and daughters have enjoyed in America. No people can ever feel the same incentive to accomplishment while under foreign domination. Lloyd George promises Ireland a full measure of self-government under His Majesty, the King. This is a promise he can not fulfill. Full self-government is impossible under any King. Liberty recognizes the majesty of no person. Irishmen, like Americans, are willing to concede majesty only to the government of a free people, their God, and their conscience. And Ireland deserves liberty. How much she contributed to the sustenance of the British flag on the western front only the English Government can tell. That she did her full part in helping the Empire to preserve itself from utter destruction no fair-minded man will deny. Every true American who cherishes the ideals of the government of his fathers ought to admit no less than that Ireland should have a reward for her sacrifice in both the British and American armies."

"The concessions by Lloyd George to De Valera and the Irish patriots who surround him do not emanate from any early acquired altruism on the part of the proud empire which increased its domain from a fourth to a third of the globe as the result of the war. They arise from a realization that the tendency of our time is toward augmented freedom, that the movement toward self-government in Ireland and India is a part of mighty forces which can not be stayed, and that public opinion in the United States has been growing more and more impatient with injustices and atrocities which have been continued by the British Government in Ireland without cessation for many centuries. She knows that while it is true that Ireland is a part of her domain by force of arms alone and that she can continue to mistreat her people to the limit of the resources of the mightiest empire or the modern world, she can not afford to appear a hypocrite in contending against the right of might with all her strength on the one hand and then exerting the same might to subject a plucky little people whose sole resource is the spirit of liberty. She fears that Ireland will be to her what the Spanish ulcer was to Napoleon. In his ruthless trampling of the liberties of the Spanish people the great emperor found the grave of his empire."

DRAINAGE WOULD RAISE KENTUCKY CROP YIELDS.

With 573,299 acres of Kentucky farm land reported in the 1920 census as needing drainage, indications are that the crop yields from certain areas of the state could be materially increased provided these were given the proper improvement, according to farm engineering specialists at the College of Agriculture. The same census reports that of the 21,612,722 acres of farms and in the state only 13,975,746 acres have been improved. A special canvass of drainage enterprises in the state also shows that there are operating drainage enterprises. Since drainage on farms of the state may be either inside or outside of an organized enterprise the figures for both are given to show the status of improvements on Kentucky farms. More than 19,592 farms in the state reported the need of drainage in the 1920 census.

The yield from the undrained areas of the state could be increased as shown by results in experiments conducted by various stations, the specialists say. Indiana reports that in one test the average yields an acre were 34.6 bushels of corn and 1,923 pounds of stover on undrained land and 59.5 bushels of corn and 3,289 pounds of stover on drained land. Wheat averaged 4.3 bushels of grain and 343 pounds of straw an acre on undrained land and 10 bushels of grain and 800 pounds of straw on an acre of drained land. Hay averaged 3,670 pounds an acre on undrained land and 4,310 pounds on the drained.

DON'T MISTAKE THE CAUSE

Many Maysville People Have Kidney Trouble And Do Not Know It.

Do you have backache? Are you tired and worn out? Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed? Are the kidney secretions irregular? Highly colored; contain sediment? Likely your kidneys are at fault. Weak kidneys give warning of distress.

Heed the warning; don't delay—Use a tested kidney remedy. Read this Maysville testimony. Bryan Greenlee, proprietor grocery store, 238 West Third street, says: "About two years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and I suffered a lot from backache. There was a deep seated pain across the center of my back. I was repairing machinery at that time and when doing any kind of stooping work I could hardly straighten up. My kidneys were not acting regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They fixed me up in good shape and I have never been bothered since." Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills — the same that Mr. Greenlee had. SURELY COMING—THE

RHODA ROYAL R. R. SHOWS.

Every man, woman and child who knows anything about shows, and who ever saw the Rhoda Royal Enormous R. R. Shows, will be delighted to know that the big shows, in all their magnificence and exalted grandeur, will surely exhibit at Maysville on Friday, October 7, and precede both exhibitions with the grandest morning street parade ever seen since parades were first exploited. In the great shows will be seen several new features which cannot be seen elsewhere. Those who have seen the monster bovalaput pronounce it the greatest, the strangest and most unique marvel to which the deep ocean ever gave birth. The shaggy, fierce though beautiful, horse-riding lion, "Wallace," is par excellence the premier quadruped performer.

The baby lions, four of a kind, infants of the forest, are a strange and lovely sight. The Roman hippodrome, an exact reproduction of the Course of Ancient Rome, and the modern races attached to it, are at once exciting, exhilarating, and in all things equal to the best races run on a modern race course. The shows, which consist of one hundred and fifty superior acts, given by one hundred superior arenic stars, requires three full hours in which to give them.

The menagerie will be a delightful study for all, because it comprises more wild, tame and strange beasts than our people have ever before had an opportunity to see. The show is great in everything and small in nothing.

FEDERAL ACTION MAY BE TAKEN AGAINST NEW ORDER

Attorney General Considers an Investigation of the Order of Ku-Klux Klan, He Says in Statement.

Washington, Sept. 21. — The Department of Justice is considering whether federal action shall be taken in connection with the activities of the Ku-Klux Klan. Attorney General Daugherty said Tuesday.

Mr. Daugherty said he would confer today with Director Burns of the Bureau of Investigation, who has been directed to look into the question, and if the facts warranted would seek a grand jury investigation of the Ku-Klux Klan in some district and urge indictment against members where justified.

The Attorney General discussed the matter with District Attorney Hayward of New York and several of the Assistant Attorney Generals, but said that no conclusion as to whether the federal government should take part in the Ku-Klux question had been reached.

Any federal action against the Klan, Mr. Daugherty said, probably would be under some statute covering conspiracy, but the legal problem involved, he added, was somewhat complex. On its face, he explained, the literature of the Ku-Klux Klan was not in violation of the law.

What was to be determined, he explained, was what went on behind the scenes—"the wink and the nod that turns the trick."

The government, Mr. Daugherty said, is not to be run or intimidated by any man or organization behind a mask.

The activities of the Ku-Klux Klan, he said, would be given the most careful consideration before any federal policy was decided upon.

FLEMING FARMER MAKES ASSIGNMENT.

The Fleming Gazette says: Yesterday in the Fleming County Court Boonville Hall, prominent farmer living between here and Elizaville filed a deed of assignment to Mark Hendrix his liabilities being given as about $80,000 and assets 332 acres of land and personalty of about $3,000 or $4,000. The cause of Mr. Hall's embarrassment is supposed to be due to depreciation in the price of his land, which he bought at a high price.

The leading creditors as shown are Mark Hendrix $27,600, Mrs. Jennie Buckler $8,082.52, Sam Dorsey $11,134, Farmers Bank $17,100, Bank of Maysville $12,750, Milford Hall $2,706, W. S. Tomlin $396, Peoples Bank $450, Deposit Bank Pearce Fant & Co. $600, and other persons with smaller accounts. Most of the foregoing amounts are secured by mortgage and some by personal endorsement.

THREE EPOCHS IN WOMAN'S LIFE.

There are three critical stages in a woman's life which leave their mark on her career — the first when she changes from a care-free girl to a woman, the second motherhood, and the third is change of life. Most of the misery which comes to women through ill health dates from one or another of these periods, but women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable remedy and has been very successful in overcoming the ailments which may come to them at these times, as it is a natural restorative for such conditions. Nearly a half a century of success attests Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded woman.

IMPORTANT BILLS BEFORE CONGRESS RECONVENING TODAY

After Recess Since August 24 Congressmen Go Back to Their Desks Today To Consider Important Legislation.

Washington, Sept. 21. — Congress reconvened today after a recess since August 24 with some of the most momentous legislation awaiting its action. First and foremost in domestic affairs comes tax revision, which is to be taken up immediately in the Senate. Then there are the treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary, the anti-beer, railroad debt funding, Allied debt refunding and Panama canal tolls bills.

Under a gentleman's agreement in the House, that body is to begin immediately a series of three-day recesses until October 4, while the Senate goes ahead at full speed.

Presentation to the Senate of the peace treaties and possibly of the revenue bill were expected to be the principal events, today, although there was a possibility that only a perfunctory session would be held, and business put over until tomorrow. A hard fight is said to be in prospect against the treaties by Senator Borah, of Idaho, and a few other Republicans and some Democrats because of their opposition to what they consider European entanglements.
